Public Library Report

Since a number of patrons of the library have inquired about the method of selecting books an explanation in the town report would seem in order.

There is a book committee consisting of five members of the library committee and the librarian. It meets once a month except during July and August. Each person brings a list of books to the meeting. A discussion is held concerning the books and a list is made out for the librarian to order.

These are purchased with the understanding that they may be returned if not deemed desirable.

A large number of the fiction books are read, before circulation, by members of the book committee and several patrons. If a book is rejected by one person it is passed on to another reader; if he or she accepts it, it is given to a third one to assist in making the final decision.

Non-fiction as a general rule is not read before being placed on the shelves for circulation; if a doubt exists it is carefully examined.

The librarian is willing to accept recommendations for books and the committee will consider them for purchase. Naturally all requests cannot be granted because funds are limited.

Exeter is extremely fortunate in having the three Merrill funds which are to be used for non-fiction. Many worthwhile books have been purchased from this income.

This fall the Junior Woman's Club offered to supply readers for the Children's Story Hours. It was decided to start having them every other Saturday afternoon. So far attendance has been quite satisfactory. This opportunity is taken to express sincere appreciation to the ladies for their kindness and cooperation.

Two more bays of steel shelves for magazines and newspapers have been purchased this year. These will provide more adequate space to store back numbers in excellent order and to make them easily accessible.

Since increased circulation is the aim of every library staff the citizens of Exeter are urged to take full advantage of the services provided by the local library.

A borrower is limited to one copy of new fiction (7 day books) but may take any reasonable number of non-fiction or older fiction books.

Children seven years old may have their own cards and enjoy the many volumes available in the attractive children's room. They may take any reasonable number of books.

One of the highlights of the past year was the redecoration of the library, which added much to the neatness and attractiveness of the building.

For the loyal support and cooperation of the staff and library committee the librarian is grateful indeed.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRIETTE M. PIRNIE,

Librarian.

Report of Water Commissioners

Your Board of Water Commissionrs wishes to point out to the citizens of Exeter that improvement in service and equipment are continually being made to the water system. New mains in various parts of town are providing better fire protection, and entrance pipe renewals are improving the service to individual customers.

For another year the only water pumped into the mains has been from the new well in Gilman Park, although stand-by equipment of most modern design is ready at the old station in case of need. The water from the well is tested frequently by the N. H. Board of Health and reports show that it is of excellent quality. Also, the amount of water pumped during the summer drought proved the adequacy of the supply.

The attached report of Superintendent Bean shows the amount of water pumped during the year as well as the lengths of mains and services laid in order to keep up with increased demands.
